A Message from the President of Oakwood College

"Year Of Precious Blessings"

The new millennium is here.

Forecasts about the need to prepare for possible widespread economic and social disasters at the dawn of Y2K generated much anxiety and fear among many citizens. However, Oakwood's commitment to the aim—"Education, Excellence, Eternity", undergirded our faith in the divine admonition:

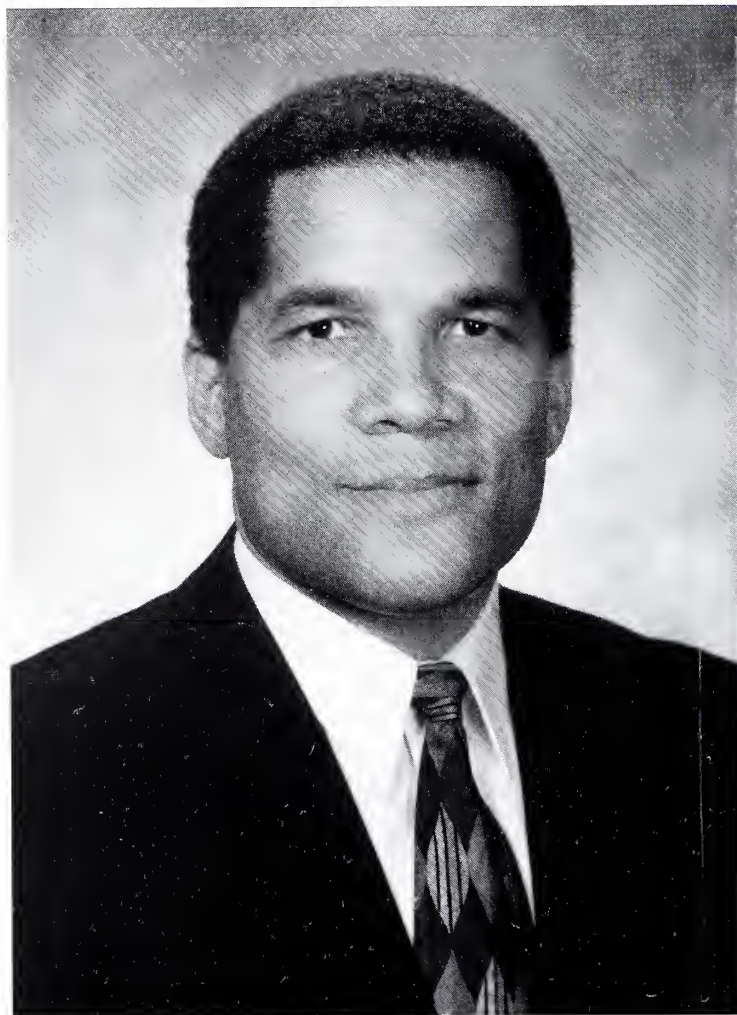

Thou shalt not be afraid of the terror by night;
... Nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday. Ps. 91: 5, 6

Evidences of God's blessings during this year are revealed in the completion of the new Business and Technology Complex, groundbreaking for the West Oaks Apartments, new walking mall, and successful accreditation visits.

Our greatest satisfaction, however, has been the involvement of so many students in the weekly AYS, Theology Forum, assemblies, worships, institutional governance, campus challenges, and community outreach initiatives, which reflects maturity and growth within the campus family.

As you go, cherish the principles, ideals, and values you have developed here, continue to share your faith as you prepare for Christ's coming. Make a difference wherever you go.

Delbert W. Baker, Ph.D.
President

A Message from the President of the USM

As I reflect on these pages,
I think back to my life,
Of all the pain and heartache, of all the misery and strife

And yet in these same places,
I remember the happy times.
When I cried and laughed with loved ones and met Jesus, my Lord, my Friend.

This year was something special for our movement. We lived our motto, "Enter to learn; depart to serve." The Impact 2000 Big Sabbath Outreach was tremendous, impacting several communities within the city of Huntsville and beyond. Our relationship with Southern Adventist University moved to a new level with DEEP Sabbaths and joint service opportunities. Our dynamic website, constant issues of the Spreading Oak, and our yearbook with its "Unplugged" view of OC life exemplified our commitment to increasing the quality of student life.

The challenges we faced were unique and seemed, at times, insurmountable. But we pulled together like never before, focused our energy and resources, and agitated for change. Student Concern Day highlighted the problems we saw and offered possible solutions. In facing our problems we forged new relationships and experienced a unity heretofore unparelled.

No doubt our Oakwood is a place like no other. And we are here at a very special time. The world is on the brink of a new millennium fraught with great expectation and hope. Fortunately, we know in whose hands our future lies, and it's to Him we look.

We remain Focused, Above and Beyond!
Let God be your focus, your aspirations above, and your journey beyond!

Lee Bulgin, USM President

Sometimes it becomes necessary

Day in and day out, it continues: the monotonous, never-ending cycle of our daily activities constantly replays. Get up, pray, have devotion, shower, get dressed, go to class, eat, go to class again, go to meetings, run errands, study, have devotion again, go to bed, get up, pray, have devotion, shower . . . More often than not our schedules get so programmed into us that we become like robots -- machines, churning out our daily duties without even thinking about them. When this happens, it becomes necessary for us to UNPLUG our automated life machines. This unplugging allows us to stop and take stock of the components that are the ingredients of our lives, helping us see the important and unimportant. Unplugging allows us to focus in on our unabridged selves, the elements that make up the good and sometimes the not so good. Unplugging also allows us to take note of the wonderful, precious moments of our lives that we quite often miss when we incessantly churn out our responsibilities.

Here presented to you is Oakwood College, UNPLUGGED: a printed representation of those components of the lives of us Oakwoodites that you might have missed this year due to your (perhaps) mechanized mind-set. We invite you to sit back, relax, and allow yourself to be. . .

UNPLUGGED!

for us to allow ourselves to be...

Retrospect

Everyone looks with great anticipation to get their yearbooks in late April. However, not many people realize that the yearbooks have to actually be completed in early February. Hence, this is why a lot of times events such as the banquet and graduation for the current year aren't normally found in the yearbook. However, these events are of great importance and it would behoove us to try to fit them in somehow. Therefore we would like to take this time to pay tribute to two great events from last school year that could not be put in the 1999-2000 Annual: the 2000 Banquet and the 2000 Graduation. We invite you to reminisce about the memories that these events created and even to catch a glimpse of some old friends who have gone and graduated.

Banquet 2000

Whispers of the Orient

On February 27, 2000, the United Student Movement held its annual banquet at the Von Braun Center North Hall. Oakwood College students and faculty dressed in their finest to attend this extravaganza. This year's theme was "Whispers of the Orient." Along with this theme and the decorations of North Hall, the guests felt an air of beauty and elegance. The featured performer was Kurt Carr, who performed wonderfully. All who heard his music were immensely blessed. Besides Kurt Carr, our own Oakwood students performed musical selection and poetry readings. One aspect that was unique to this banquet was a slide presentation that portrayed life at Oakwood. It showed slides of couples, everyday activities on campus, and many other divisions of Oakwood life. All in all, those who attended the banquet enjoyed themselves. This time of the year brings out the best in everyone. Ladies put on their finest gowns and men put on their best suits and tuxedos. This was an unforgettable evening of elegance, style, and beauty.

"It was an enchanted evening in a ballroom full of Oakwood's finest looking their best."

Graduation 2000

Completing their education, these students gladly 'Depart to Serve'

The Graduation events for the Class of 2000 took place May 12 & 13. The weekend started off with the Friday night consecration service with speaker Shewin Jack, pastor of the Ephesus S.D.A. church in New York. Sabbath Morning, the Baccalaureate service was held in Von Braun Arena with speaker C.D. Brooks, co-founder and former director of the Breath of Life telecast. The nursing graduates had their pinning ceremony at 4:00 in the afternoon, with the department chair, Carol Easley Allen, officiating, and the commencement exercises took place Saturday evening. The Honorable John Street, mayor of the city of Philadelphia, was the speaker.

College Days 2000

O.C. Welcomes Prospective Students

Oakwood College hosted its Annual College Days October 10-12. High school seniors from various Adventist academies and other schools converged on the campus. Students were able to unplug from their daily high school routines to experience college life for a few days. To enhance that feeling, the visitors stayed in the residence halls with Oakwood students. During those three days, they learned more about what Oakwood has to offer in terms of spiritual and academic growth. On Monday, the students visited different departments and were given a tour of the main facilities on campus. On that evening, a concert took place at Oakwood College church. The OC Aeolians and College Choir, Dynamic Praise, Voices of Triumph, the OC Orchestra, and various other groups and soloists participated in this concert. On Tuesday, there was a basketball game held in the Ashby Auditorium. That afternoon all of the guests began their journey back home feeling refreshed and relaxed after unplugging for a couple of days to experience what would be their own life in a few short months.

Middle Right: College Days always brings in a mixture of students from various schools and regions.

Back for Another School Year

Here We Go Again!

Winding down Adventist Boulevard, the familiar view gradually comes into focus. Look, there's the church! Wait a minute! That Business and Technology Building wasn't nearly that finished when we left! And there're those good 'ol "Oakwood College" and "Enter to Learn" signs. Hey, did they add something else new to the security booth?

Once again, we students of Oakwood returned to school, seasoned with yet another summer experience (some dreamlike, others nightmares) and ready to take on the challenge of a new semester. What did this new school year hold for each of us? None of us were certain, but we came expectantly, blessed with another opportunity to return to the Oaks, writing another chapter in our college education.

Above right: Putting some muscle in it; this returning student carts her belongs back to the dorm for another school year.

The New Class

Oakwood welcomes the Freshman of 2004 and Transfer Students

Once again, we celebrated the beginning of school by the welcoming of the new class of OC students and the new group of transfer students. On Friday, Aug. 18, the herds of overpacked cars, vans, and, in some cases, U-Hauls started arriving on campus, and by Sunday, August. 20, the campus was fully alive with the newest additions to the Oakwood family. Sunday afternoon, the annual parting ceremony took place on the library lawn where the freshmen and new students tearfully waved goodbye to their parents, sisters, brothers, etc. as they walked through the archway, symbolizing their entrance into "Oakwood Village." With Drs. Delbert and Susan Baker leading the way and the Pathfinder band and pom-pom armed Navigators accompanying, the party of new OC recruits made their way to Moran Hall where the start of the Orientation Week would commence. Yes, the parting ceremony was somewhat of a sad moment with so many students leaving home for the first time, unsure of what they were truly getting into. However, it was a time of great anticipation and excitement as well; here they were, standing on the brink of a whole new horizon known as the "Oakwood Experience."

Freshmen Consecration

The events from Freshmen Orientation were concluded with the traditional Freshmen Consecration service. This event serves as a time for the freshmen to dedicate their time at Oakwood to the Lord. Pastor Rupert Bushner presented the charge, and responses were given by the USM president, four freshmen, and one transfer student.

The Annual Block Party

An evening of Kid(ding) and Play

In keeping with tradition, the new school year was christened by the first official Saturday night activity, the Block Party. This year, Oakwood welcomed former rapper now turned Christian entertainer, Christopher “Play” Martin, of the famous 90s duo, Kid ‘n Play. He was accompanied by Christian comedians Chuckie Jenkins and Small Frie. Whether or not the block party happened to strike your fancy, you cannot deny that it provided a chance for returning OC students to reunite after the summer and get re-acquainted and for those new students to get to know some Oakwoodites.

Going a little bit DEEP^{er} (Southern Style)

Sometimes it becomes easy to get caught up in our own little world here at Oakwood. So much that sometimes we forget that there is life beyond the Oaks: other cultures with different experiences, other people with various personalities, and so on. About three years ago, in 1998, the DEEP program was conceived between Oakwood College and Southern University. This program would entail seven students from Southern University coming to school at Oakwood for a semester and returning to Southern for the second semester. In turn, seven Oakwood students would go and visit Southern University for that same semester and return to Oakwood for the spring semester. This year DEEP had its third group of students visiting the two respective schools. Seven students from Oakwood decided to break the mold of “the Oakwood Experience” and challenged themselves to a new experience: a new horizon that would allow them to learn about life beyond Oakwood. Through participating in this venture, these seven students have gained a new outlook, learning to appreciate new things and ideas, as well as allowing them to appreciate some of the old that they have learned all of the more.

In Too

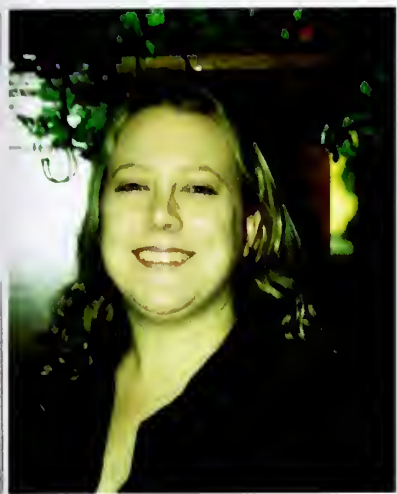

D.E.E.P.

In too D.E.E.P.. That is the phrase that comes to mind when you think of the seven students who visited our campus for the Fall semester 2000. Many wonder how they could decide to leave all that they are familiar with and experience, actually become immersed in, another culture. But their reasons for coming range from just "having a cool experience" to being "really intrigued with another person's culture." Some "didn't really know what to expect." But since they have been here they have had a wonderful experience. . . at least that is what we are told. That's right folks, "they like us, they really like us!" They say our campus is so friendly (For all those of you who just gave a smile, it was worth it!), and that the spiritual sense on campus is very prevalent. There are a few things we need to work on like our time keeping and the dorms - well, let's just leave that subject alone. But all in all they really enjoyed their stay here. We helped to shape their views on life and learning. We all need to learn about each other. These seven have had the experience of a lifetime: a chance to get in, some may think too DEEP; the truth is none of us really have gotten DEEP enough. Heaven is not going to be about Black or White, Chinese or Indian, but just about those who love the Lord. The true calling for a servant of the King is to be a servant to others. Before we complete the mile in another person's shoes, we need to at least make the first step. We should all be willing to get in to DEEP.

Seniors

The time that we have been looking forward to is finally upon us. It has been four, maybe five or six, long years and now our reward is looming in front of us like a blazing torch in the night: graduation. The time we have spent here has been filled with laughter and tears, light-hearted moments and stress, spiritual highs and lows; and now the end draws nigh. We are preparing to go out into a world that is filled with adversity and challenges. Let us not forget those moments when we were together enjoying the fellowship of our common bonds. Let us not forget the moments when we were unplugged.

"Let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season, we shall reap, if we faint not."

-Galatians 6:9

There is a saying that reads, "I came, I saw, I conquered." We represent many different parts of the world along with our experiences. Over the past four years we have seen a rapid degeneration of the world from the attempts of cloning sheep to the continual efforts of "peace in the Middle East" that has potential catastrophic effects on society. We have seen a world rapidly self-destructing before our very eyes. Yet in the midst of the world's destruction, God has designed that we come to get final instructions before we face the "real world."

During our tenure here at the Oaks, we stood at the pinnacle of success. However, we also wallowed in the valley of discouragement. We have been unified like a body, and at times, our differences and misunderstandings have severed our unique bond. No matter how many tests we have failed to study for or assignments we have missed due to illness and/or negligence, despite all of these issues, God has remained faithful.

What we offer the world are not gifts to God; we simply offer humble service for the gifts that He has so graciously bestowed upon us. As we move forward from these hallowed grounds, let us move forward to serve. Let us move forward with power and conviction.

We must keep ever before us that God's work has only just begun in us, and in the words of the Apostle Paul, "He who began a good work in us will be faithful to complete it until the day of Christ Jesus."

We see before us a future laden with God-given opportunity, and it is now our task to stand faithful and persistent, not leaning on our own understanding, but trusting wholly in the Word made flesh.

Senior Jewels of Wisdom

After spending four (sometimes more) years submersed in college life, you would expect that the senior class members have some insightful knowledge to pass on to the underclassmen. Here are a few precious stones of vital information from some members of the class that might benefit those with a few more years left at OC.

"The toughest choices in life are not between good and bad, but knowing what's good, better, and what's best."
-Tamara Vaughan

"When you study, study hard.
When you play, play hard.
But in all things make God an integral and active source of power in you life."
-Erica Hinds

"Keep it real. Respect the ladies.
Stay true to God."
-Toussaint Williams

"A reminder from Dr. Martin Luther King:
'The ultimate measure of a man is not where he stands in moments of comfort and convenience, but where he stands at times of challenge and controversy.' 'Finally, my brethren be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might' (Eph. 6:10)."
-Jarren Thurman

"Maintain a balanced lifestyle!"
-Gary Jones, Jr.

"Remember that your reputation is all you have and most important. It will follow you after you graduate. Think before you act!"
-Deidra Patrickson

"Don't rush the future; enjoy the present."

-Jessica Cook

"-Have as much fun as you can

-Do not fail a class

-Always be 10 steps ahead of Oakwood with all your paperwork."

-Andre Hewitt

"Don't believe the hype . . . grades and G.P.A. are important; C's will not cut it!"

-Kim Anderson

Keep God first in your life and don't let anyone tell you that you can't be yourself and survive.
Know that! ATL: words of wisdom."

-Day Ramphal

" 1. Put God first in line (even before school, girls, etc.)

2. Make sure you know the requirements for your degree, because it's your future, not your advisor's.

3. Don't leave Oakwood without making a positive difference in someone else's life.

4. Don't leave holding a grudge for those who don't know any better.

5. Be man/woman enough to admit your faults.

6. Be sure to act the fool at graduation because afterwards, you have to stay a grown-up!

One Love!"

"Don't hang out in front of Carter Hall."
-George Howell

"Remember that what you will be, you are now becoming."
Juleun Johnson

"Start strong and beware of the distractions along the way. Focus on your goal and remember that whatever you truly want, wants you."
-Andre' Denham

"Life is about choices;
choose to win;
choose Christ."
-George Cyril

"Take things slowly. Put God first in everything you do. Enjoy life while you can."
-Neilla Blizzard

"If at first you don't succeed, there is always the Adventist Nun Society."
-Nathalie Jean-Philippe

"My words of advice for the underclassmen are:
1. Develop a close and personal relationship with God.
2. Develop good friendships that can and will continue throughout your life.
3. Participate in as much as you can (after you study) because it's nothing like leaving and not having anything to remember."

Top Left: One of the LEAP classes of the past.

LEAP Students

Oakwood College's Adult and Continuing Education Program, LEAP (Leadership Education for the Adult Professional), is an aspect of campus that most students don't know too much about. Granted, the students in this program might have a slightly different curriculum and class schedule than most of us, but they are fellow Oakwoodites nonetheless. The program takes approximately 18 months to complete. Most students graduate from the program with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Organizational Management. Those who complete their degree through LEAP are truly an example of those who embody hard work and determination. Some might think college is hard enough, but try having to work on a degree while having another full-time job and family at home. LEAP students, we salute you for all of your hard work.

Oneal Saunders Oldest Graduate of the Class of 2000

The Stats:

- Born May 28, 1922, in Evergreen, Alabama
- Graduated from Westfield High School in Westfield, Alabama, in 1939
- After high school, he joined the Navy, where he learned auto/truck mechanic skills
- A member of the NAACP, the Alabama Democratic Conference (ADC), he has invented a jack knife device for trucks, has started his own business, has been active in community affairs, and plays guitar for his church
- Joined the Oakwood College LEAP program in 1996. Saw a woman who seemed to be over her 60s graduate from the program. Felt that if he joined, it would inspire other senior citizens to join as well.
- Just a few days shy of 78 at the time of graduation, May 13, 2000

"It may be those who do most, dream most"

-Stephen Leacock

What was one of your more embarrassing moments at OC?

I came in one day from swimming, and decided to take a shower and take a nap. I went to bed in a state of undress and slept with ear plugs in my ear. This was around the time that the network boxes were being installed in the dorm. I assume that the worker (a man) knocked, and I didn't hear him because of my ear plugs. My telephone rang, and I lunged out of bed to answer the phone. That's when I felt a presence in my room. I looked over and there was a man in my room. I screamed and asked him how long would it be 'til he left. All he said was he was sorry to wake me.

-Diana McFarlane, Landover, MD

I was at the salad bar at the cafe, and I sneezed and mucus came out of my nose. Everyone around me got disgusted and did not want to eat from the salad bar.

-Darren Claxton, Washington D.C.

One day I was leaving a group of friends in the cafe, eloquently saying, "I an I go trampoos (a Jamaican term for making a move)," and I turned around and fell. Everyone laughed.

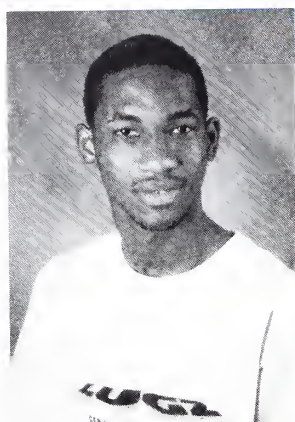

-Lincoln Smith, Bronx, NY

Fell down the center stage at Blake Center in front of a large portion of the school.

-Ryan Smith, Los Angeles, CA

While eating breakfast one morning in the cafeteria, a basketball flew on my plate and everything splashed in my face. Orange juice also spilt on my pants, and I had to remain in the cafe for fear of being ridiculed for stains on my pants.

Seasoned with a year of the "OC Experience," what have you learned about college life?

Smiling can, like a shooting star, come and go, leaving a ray of glimmer amidst a dark sky.

– Joshua Williams, Huntsville, AL

Trying to please others is the quickest way to failure.

– Susanne Osborne, Vancouver, BC

Everything counts. Take classes for knowledge opposed to grades.

– Elayna Boynton, Riverside, CA

I have learned that love makes life beautiful; when you give love, you get love.

– Kevin Maragh, Florida

I learned to comprehend people's characteristics and personality traits readily.

– Monique Laws, Chicago, IL

No matter how difficult the task may seem to be, never compromise by putting studies before seeking the Lord first in daily devotion.

class of

What made you decide to come to Oakwood?

I've lived in Huntsville all my life, and went to Oakwood Elementary and Oakwood Academy. Oakwood is a good school academically, but they don't have my major (Radiology/allied health) so I can't stay. I'm taking my prerequisites here so I can have the "OC experience."

-Marcus McGauley, Huntsville, AL

What convinced me to go to Oakwood first off was the spirituality. I believe it's necessary to continue college life with Jesus. Secondly, it was the rate Oakwood has of getting students into medical school.

-Calvin Grant, Atlanta, GA

I needed some spiritual growth, and I thought this would be the place to get it. Also, I have heard about the many different activities that are available on campus that help to make the college experience more enjoyable.

-Racquel Stephenson, Florida

I came here because I would find something here that I wouldn't find at a public school.

-Brenda Morelus, Boston, MA

I felt that God wanted me to come here because He wanted me to grow spiritually and because I wanted to get an education in order to give back to my community.

-Tunisha Buttler, East Palo Alto, CA

 Student Life

Terrible Tuesdays

The struggles of getting scanned after chapel is finally over.

Study Time

Ask God's blessing on your work, but do not ask him to do it. -- Waggener

Workin'

If you love sleep, you will end in poverty. Stay awake, work hard, and there will plenty to eat. -- Proverbs 20:13

Student Life Unplugged

"The weekends are eat, drink, and be merry for tomorrow (Monday, organic, physics, calculus) we die."
-Jonathan Elyse

"EXPRESSIONS" make up the look of student life. When we are not wrapped up in working and studying, we focus hard on the other reason we came to college – to have FUN! Here at Oakwood, student life consists of various activities, whether it's a walk to the Rock Quarry, a trip to the local skating rink, or a late night munch at the Snack Bar. Beyond our usual events – Miss Oakwood, the Spring Banquet, the Ambassadors and Lady Ambassadors' basketball games – other aspects of student life receive a great deal of notice.

The on-campus life is full of excitement and new lessons on life that will last a lifetime. The off-campus students are getting a taste of the "real world" summed up in one big word – BILLS. Maintaining these two areas of life aren't always easy, but leave it up to Oakwood students to make it happen.

Let's not forget about two other important aspects of student life – food and studying. What would a normal day be without a visit to the cafeteria with food that is served with a smile from our favorite lady, Mama Shand? Whether you are there to eat or to just plain out hang out with your friends, the cafe offers more than just a "tasty" meal, but also an opportunity to socialize with friends and others that you don't necessarily see on a regular basis. The Eva B. Dykes Library is the "hot spot" for all those group meetings that are required for most of our classes. But given the chance, even the library can turn into a place for students to get together and practice the 3 R's – Relax, Relate, Release.

Below: We're back in full effect.

Keeping fit

Marlon spends his spare time trying to stay fit for the young ladies.

Organic Chemistry

Leanna tries to stay focused while handling hazardous chemicals.

Pass the ball

Stennette prepares for the fast break, but is Nashon going to pass the ball?

Above: One close friend is worth more than a thousand acquaintances.

CARTER HALL

"Every woman is every other woman trying to figure out Who she is."
-Nana Korantemaa

Carter Hall is known to be the hottest spot on campus, filled with the fresh new faces and attitudes of young girls just beginning to hatch out of their shell. Living in Carter Hall means making new friends and getting adapted to your new "home" for the next year. These girls are going to be your "family" with whom you interact on a daily basis. The late-night talks, RA's coming in to tell you to keep the noise level down, signing out leaves, curfews. . . "I thought I left Mom at home!" Guess again! The deans keep everything in check.

Carter Hall helps to teach its residents how to evolve into God-fearing women and to fully understand the true meaning of friendship. The lessons that one learns here are enough to last them a lifetime.

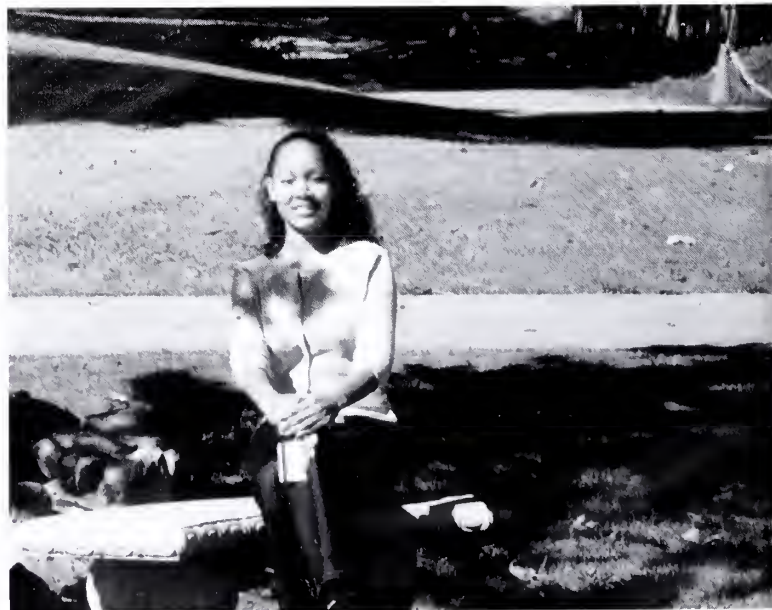

To Right: Bessie Carter Hall: the cultivating center that trains girls into Oakwood women.

To Right: Sitting in the plush Carter Hall lobby.

To Right: Tiffany Lee basks in the sunshine in front of the dormitory

Below: Your dorm room is definitely the place to go to let your hair down and just act crazy.

Immediate Below: You know, your roommate can become your friend for life.

Far Below: You know, you might want to put $1.00 in that dryer because one $.50 cycle just doesn't seem to do the trick.

Peterson Hall

"With a representation from five of seven continents and nearly every state in America, Peterson Hall houses a brotherhood that spans the globe. The curfews, worships, and dorm meetings bring the men of Peterson into a bond that will last through distance and time. As Freshman Orientation ends and the freshman men explore their new surroundings, names are exchanged and friendships are formed that will guarantee a support system that no other organization can compare to. The wall, doors, recreation room, and lobby of Peterson Hall houses preachers, teachers, doctors, missionaries, attorneys, and a large array of other professions.

However, the men of Peterson will stand out in any crowd, have more courage than any man, and be successful at any task because they are different from any other man in the world. Men of Peterson are the elite. These men are trained in every aspect of life, but above all they are trained to love and fear God.

Peterson Hall is the ground from which real men are cultivated; they are the grounds on which children of sinful man become children of a saving God. Peterson Hall is where men are made. Life in Peterson Hall is summed up into this: men of Peterson are men of success and integrity because men of Peterson are men of God."

JOHN T. BOSTON II
PETERSON HALL RESIDENT

A STRONG MAN MASTERS OTHERS. A TRULY WISE MAN MASTERS HIMSELF.
- THE WISDOM OF THE TAOISTS.

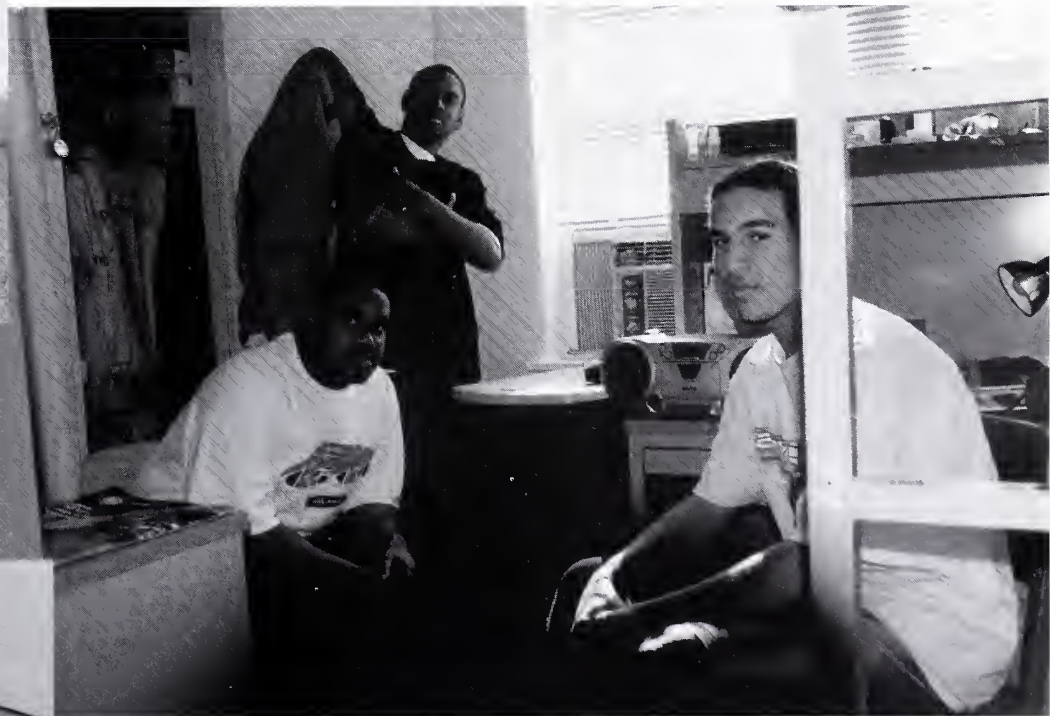

TO RIGHT:
THE POWER OF PRAYER. . .CAN'T HAVE TRULY
UNIFIED DORM WITHOUT IT.

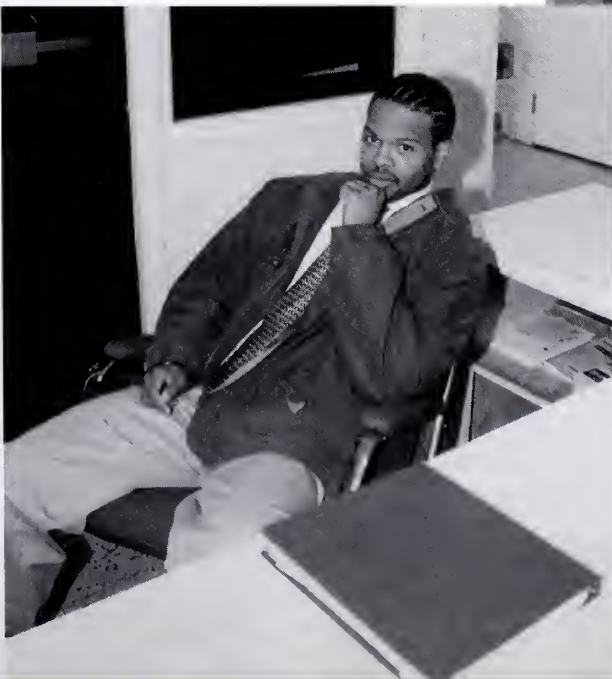

TO LEFT: A PETERSON HALL RESIDENT RETURNS FROM A USUAL WAL-MART RUN.

TO RIGHT: MAXIN' AND RELAXIN' IN A FRIEND'S ROOM

CLOSE WATCH AT THE FRONT DESK.

Wade Hall

"A woman is the intuitive perception of truth reflected as love in the soul."

- Charles Filmore

The Women of Wade Hall are summed up in one word – sensational. The women who reside here have a keen sense of style and charisma unique from anyone else on campus. These women are full of life and energy and, at times of course, loud noise. Home to approximately 345 women this year, this is the dorm most women come to as soon as their stay in Carter is officially over.

Wade Hall's freshly decorated style and modern suites are what attract most women to choose this dorm as their 'home away from home' for the school year. Another added plus is the extended curfew that Carter Hall doesn't have.

The two main things that are essential to any dorm life – food and studying – are extremely evident in Wade Hall. The women here have learned to stay up to date with their studies, whether it be to write a term paper or hold a last-minute cramming session (you can always expect to find this going on). Late night snacks are also very popular among the women here when they get the "munchies." With Ramen noodles, Taco Bell and McDonald's as favorites, they can constantly count on these delectables to deliver them of their sever hunger pains.

Le Boutique di Wade

Whoever knew that Wade Hall was a beauty shop under cover? Relaxers, braids, eyebrows. . .you can always find somebody in the dorm to hook you up. Even guys sometimes come as customers (their services are rendered in the lobby or outside in front of the dorm, of course.)

Food Break

Occasionally, you just need to take a quick break from studying to munch on something.

To left: Don't be scared; it's just your bathroom floor.

Below: The stairwell has also been known to serve as a makeshift conference room.

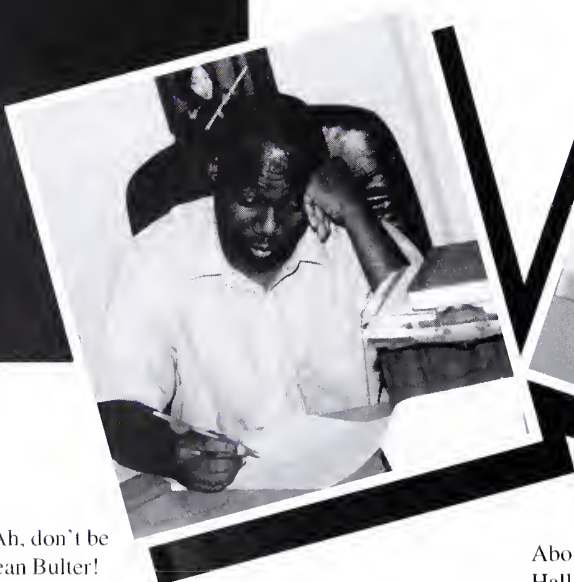

Edwards Hall

"The experience of staying in the living quarters of Edwards Hall is like that of no other. Although there exists a set of rules that one must abide by, there is also a sense of individualism and self-government (aka FREEDOM) that one can only obtain from the many responsibilities that being at school brings. At Edwards, the second phase of friendships develop and continue far into adulthood and eternity. The residents of Edwards Hall are men in every sense of the word, and we get along despite the plethora of cultures and characteristics that enter the rooms each year. God's spirit dwells in this place: this is His place, O.B. Edwards Hall.

Donald Monroe
Edwards Hall Resident

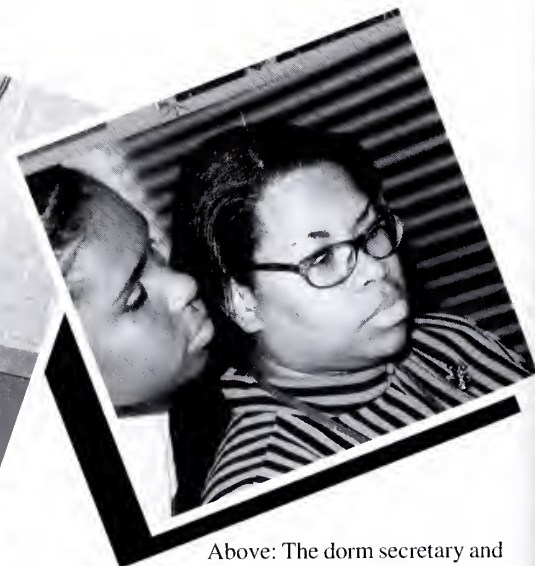

"I ENJOY LIVING AT EDWARDS HALL BEACUSE EACH DAY I FIND MYSELF INTERACTING WITH MY PEERS NOT ONLY IN CLASS AND IN THE DORM, BUT AT CHURCH. TIMES ARE CHANGING. PEOPLE ARE CHANGING. EDWARDS IS CHANGING TOO FOR THE GOOD."

To left:
Chris and Josh get a breath of fresh air
on the porch outside of their suite.

To right: The men of Edwards have the priviledge of living in the only “gated community” on campus.

To left: Theology major Alfonzo
Greene dutifully brushes up on that Greek.

Cunningham Hall

"Wealth consists not in having great possessions but in having few wants."

- Epicurus

Cunningham Hall claims the description as being "the other upperclasswomen's dorm." There are only a few women that live here in proportion to Wade, and Wade certainly is the newer dorm of the two. However, though Cunningham is nothing like Wade, it is still vibrant and full of life in its own way. The ladies here are graceful and elegant, and they enjoy the closeness that they share and wouldn't change it for the world. They come from many different paths of life but the main thing that keeps them together in unison is their love for Cunningham.

Welcome, Ladies!

The ladies of Cunningham are cheerfully greeted as they enter the door.

Who needs a computer lab?

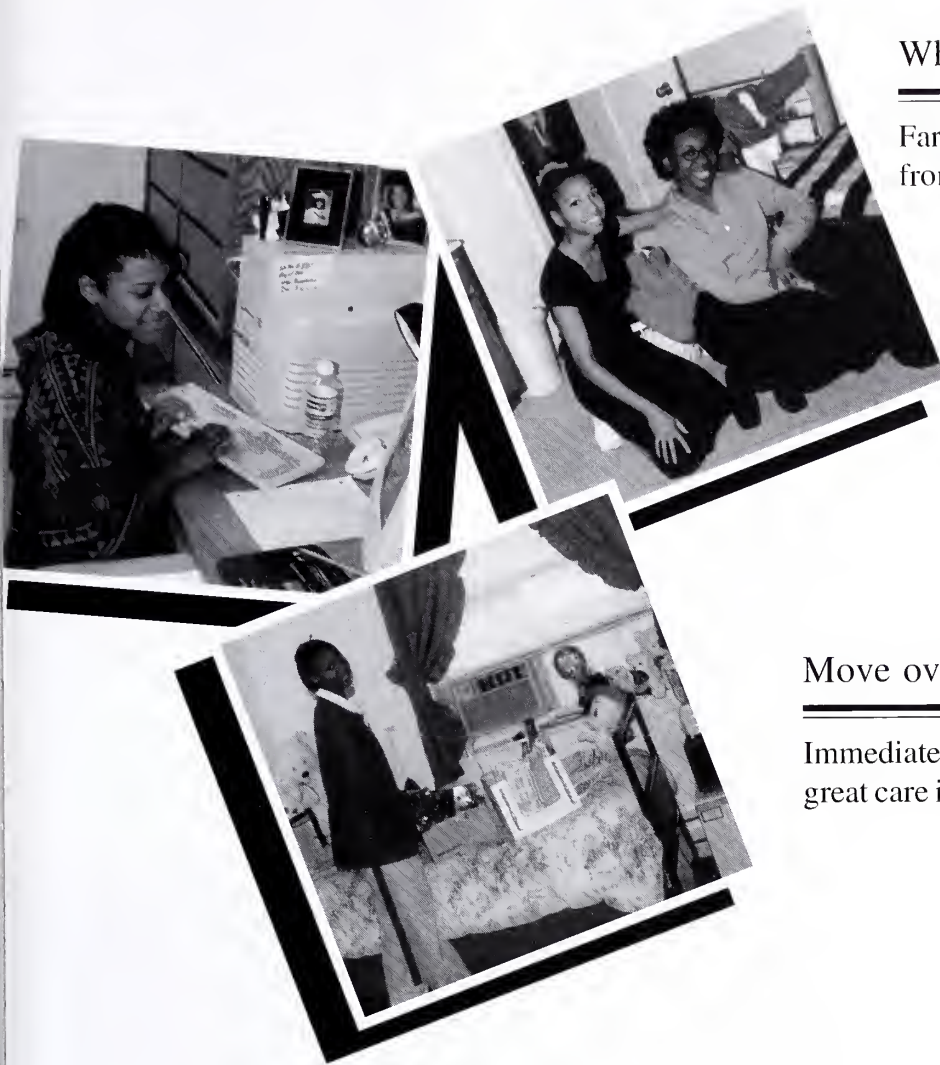

Far left: Luisa churns out those papers from the comfort of her room.

Forever Friends

Above immediate left: The ladies of Cunningham all seem to be close knit, forming friendships that will last a life time.

Move over Martha Stewart!

Immediate left: Miranda Steele has taken great care in decorating her room.

Below: Time for another dorm room chat!

Below: Rachelle, is that Valy?

Annex

The start of a school day is always the struggle for many each day. The alarm clock goes off like the sound of a freight train rolling through the morning dew. It's seven am and it's almost time for class. It is morning, though it seems as though a minute ago it was night, and you just fell into bed.

For many that can be the case. You fidget around and turn off the alarm, just five more minutes you thought, and lay your head down for an extra few minutes. By the time you look, it's almost 8:00. Quickly you rise, racing to get a shower and comb your hair. You're finally awake, or so it seems. To your amazement your day is finally about to start. No time to hit the café for breakfast, so you decided to wait until lunchtime. Got to make that long trek to class. It's hard living in the Annex because everything seems to be so far.

You dash off to class almost ten minutes late, hoping and praying that you haven't missed the morning quiz or the morning devotion. You've just had a blessing the night before and were hoping to share it with the class. By the time you got there, they had started to take notes. This was your most strenuous class, CHEMISTRY 141, with Dr. Ranatunga. You gaze blankly at the board. Your mind is confused as the teacher continues on and on to talk about things you don't know. Thinking to yourself, you wonder when will this class end.

Below: Jason is all smiles as he works on those tough physics problems. Hmm, there must be something more exciting about doing your homework when you're doing it in the Annex.

There is not time for the café as you rush off to catch another class. You've gotta climb up to your annex to retrieve a paper you forgot. Again you miss another opportunity to eat. Afternoon comes as you tread off to work or to a late afternoon lab. Hunger! It finally strikes and you realize that you haven't eaten all day. You rush off to the snack bar, where you will order a quarter pounder with cheese, no pickles, and French fries.

It seems like there isn't enough hours in the day; before you know it, the sun is setting and it's time to return to the Annex. The Annex is the place of rest for many. It's like being off-campus, but with no bills, no electricity, and not as much responsibility of being in the "real world." No matter your intentions to study or write your paper, you always manage to talk to your friends. Before long, the doors of brief social life close, and the arms of the books open to embrace you. Hours later the night is already old and sleep is inviting. After all, tomorrow there are meetings to attend, more studying to do, and some time set aside to do your daily devotion. Right now, sleep, that precious commodity, overwhelms you and another day in academia passes.

Above: Uh, wait a minute. Was it today that we were supposed to turn in that ten page paper for class?

To Right: Some people mellow out by cranking on their stereos. Sirach makes his own tunes. Go ahead Sirach!

Below: Hah! We caught ya! Robin returns to the annex after a long day and grabs a snack before she starts to study.

Above: Outside the girls' annex. Living in the annex is a happy medium to some between living in the dorm and living off campus.

Off-campus

"Prosperity is living happily in the real world, whether or not you have money"

- Jerry Giles

Off-campus life is the way to live for some. No more signing in, rushing back to the dorm trying to make it in before curfew. Sabbath dinners, movie nights, study sessions, little get togethers just because, my own washer and dryer. . .yes, this is the way to live life.

Being off-campus also means being a mature, responsible adult. Off-campus students need to stay focused and are getting a chance to learn about the real world, with all of its ups and its downs..

We asked a couple of off-campus students some pros and cons to living off-campus, and here are some of the answers we received:

Pros

- You can cook your own food
- Cable
- No one slamming doors at 1:00 a.m.
- Boys can visit

Cons

- Having to commute back and forth
- No place to go between breaks for classes
- Bills

Cafeteria

Ah yes, the OC cafeteria. No other place brings up such a wide variety of various opinions. Yes, there are some days where only a bowl of cereal will do, and, granted, it's not like Mom's cooking. But then again, is anything like Mom's cooking? It's interesting to note, though, that the same people that you hear complain about the food the most are the ones that chow down two to three servings of the stuff. The cafe also serves as the social center for on-campus live. Going to the cafe allows one to catch up with friends they haven't seen all day and to shoot the breeze before heading back to class or studying.

Below: Candace tries to grab a bite between conversations.

Above: Gotcha!

To left: Miss Elaine always has a smile for those who enter the cafe.

When in the cafe, you can either choose to sit and talk with a whole bunch of your friends (above) or choose to sit alone, take a breather, and just be reflective (to right).

To left: Chris and Amberly get their "eat" on.

Below: See, the food can't be that bad. She's smiling.

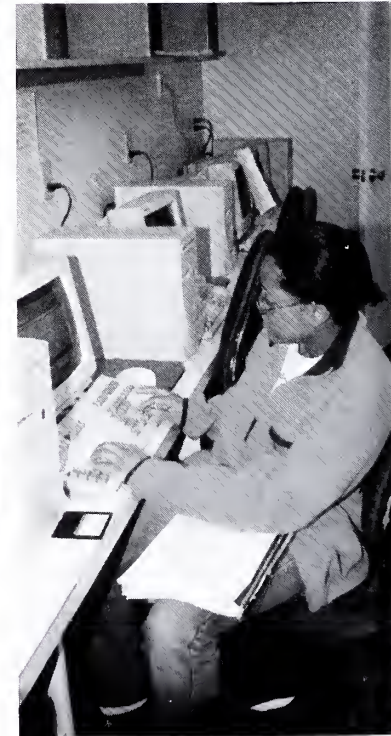

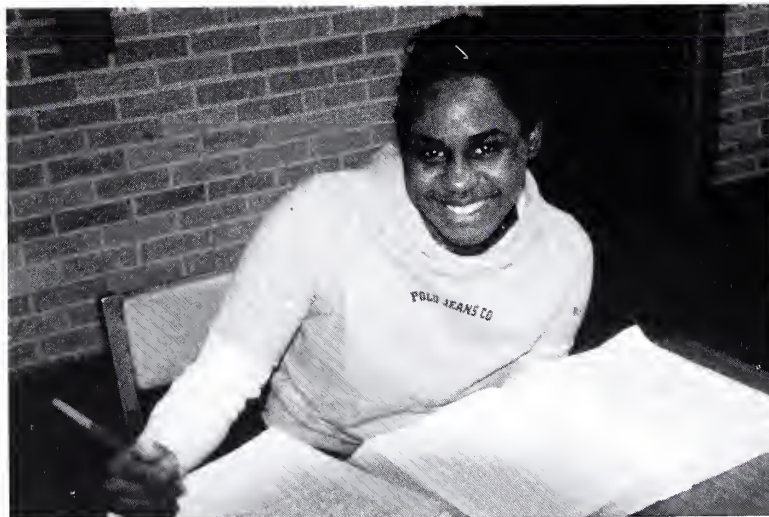

Above: Where would the cafe be without Mamma Shand? She certainly brings a little home to the atmosphere.

Academics

Oh yeah, academics are also a part of college life. Time management is definitely the key with keeping up with the game. Day after day we go back and forth between classes; then we have to balance those hours outside of class to allow adequate time for our homework and studies. Multiple-paged research papers, labs that require precise calculations, group projects, midterm examinations. . .at times it seems too overwhelming, but its all done to mold us to be able to survive, once we leave, those careers we've chosen for ourselves. But how do we endure it all while we're here? As it says in the song, "place it on Jesus name."

"If you think education is expensive--try ignorance."
- Derek Bok

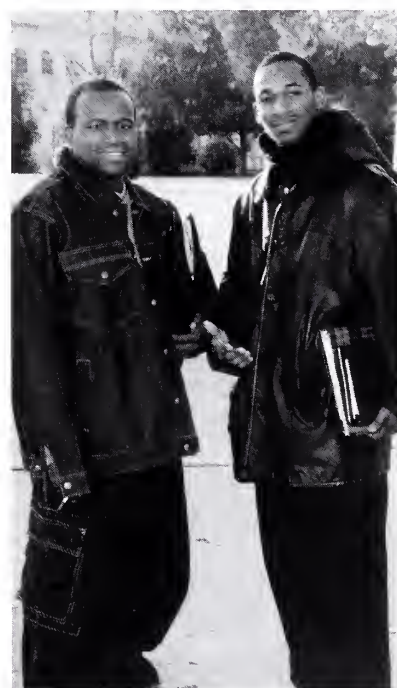

"The purpose of education is to teach oneself how to study on their own."

-R.E. Phillips

"Perhaps the most valuable result of all education is the ability to make yourself do the thing you have to do, when it ought to be done, whether you like it or not; it is the first lesson that ought to be learned, and however early a man's training begins, it is probably the last lesson that he learns thoroughly."

-Thomas Huxley

'Whatever is good to know is difficult to learn'

-Greek proverb

"Education makes people easy to lead, but impossible to drive; easy to govern, but impossible to enslave."

-Henry Peter Brougham

Religious Life

Hailed as the "School of the Prophets," Oakwood certainly offers a wide variety of activities and programs that richly add to the religious and spiritual life of the campus, making it second to none. Weekly activities such as Bell Tower, Wednesday Night Prayer Meeting, Forum, and AYS give the students a chance to unplug from their regular hectic schedules and take some time out to focus on the One who should be the true center of our lives.

Campus Ministries

Morning Light, Power Hour, Bell Tower, Ladies First - these campus ministries happen regularly during the week, seeing to the day to day spiritual needs of the students.

Above: Alicia shares a thought at the Ladies First meeting

Above: Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at noon, Bell Tower Ministries go into full effect.

Above: These three distinguished gentlemen, Carlton, Marlon, and Jose, greet the women attending Ladies First with a rose.

Chapel

Okay, okay. Granted, some students may come to chapel only to avoid those hefty chapel fines from being placed on their bills. However, chapel offers a unique experience in being one of the few times when all the students of Oakwood can come together and worship as one body.

Above: Students make that weekly 10:00 a.m. trek to chapel.

To Right: Ah, yes. One must not forget to scan in for chapel.

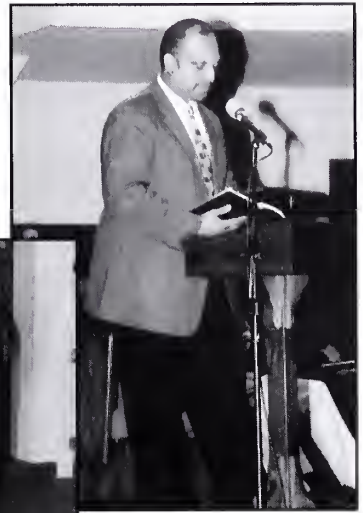

Above: Speakers like Pastor John Lomacang come from far and wide to share a word with us for chapel.

Wednesday Night Prayer Meeting

Fees aren't used to enforce attendance and only one out of the five dorms have offered worship credit for coming, but for some reason everybody, their friend, and their friend's friend come to Wednesday Night Prayer Meeting at OC Church. Could it be that they come to hear Pastor Nixon or Pastor Tapp break down the Word, or is it because they feel the need of a mid-week "unplugging"? Whatever the case is, Oakwood certainly keeps the pews occupied for this service.

Above: Pastor Nixon brings a Word from the Lord.

To left: Better hurry and find a seat before Pastor Nixon calls you out!

Above: The precious gift of coming before the Most High through prayer.

Below: The students testify of the mighty ways God has worked in their lives.

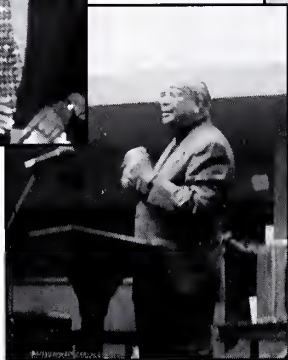

Religion & Theology Forum

Yes, it's geared for religion and theology majors, but there's always an open invitation for others to attend this Friday night service. With a number of soul-feeding sermons and special presentations, Forum is a powerful ministry on campus.

Above: Dr. Trevor Fraser stops to talk to some attendees of Forum following the presentation by him and his wife.

To right: Forum gives one the opportunity to hear sermons from pioneers of the church, such as Elder E.E. Cleveland.

Coming through a week filled with numerous stresses and brain-busting assignments, AYS is a time when students can come to praise, saying, "Thank You, Jesus, for helping me through another week!" This year, under the leadership of Toussaint Williams, the AYS theme was "Lightbearers 2000-2001," encouraging OC students to share the light of Christ with others.

Above: The very first AYS of the school year included a play illustrating this year's theme, "Lightbearers 2000-2001." Noah breaks down his fellow schoolmates how they can be lightbearers.

Happy Sabbath!!

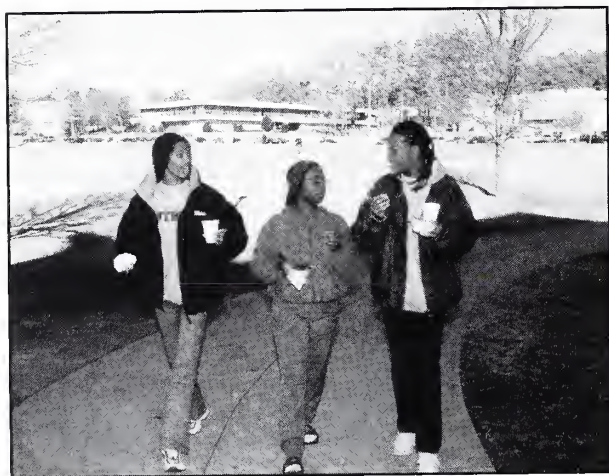

Above: A majestic sunrise signals the beginning of Sabbath morning.

Sabbath is most definitely a special day at Oakwood, the only Seventh-Day Adventist historically black college. Nothing can compare to the sweetness of Sabbath rest after a long, drawn out week filled with worries and worldly cares. From sunset Friday to sunset Saturday, the Sabbath provides a day-long opportunity of fellowship and communion with the Almighty; a day to strengthen our spiritual connection and to get that "charge" that we need to help us through another week. God truly knew what He was doing when He created the Sabbath.

"And the Lord blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it."

-Genesis 2:3, KJV

Above: Ah, yes, returning from the traditional Sabbath breakfast in the cafe. Gotta get something to tide you over until church gets out.

To right: A sight many are sorry to behold; the setting of the sun on Saturday signals the end of the Sabbath. Back to another busy week. But don't worry; before you know it, the week will be over and it'll be Sabbath once again.

Student Activities

Cutting Loose

The term "plugged" is defined by Webster's Dictionary as "obtruding or obstructing materials resembling a plug." In the academic arena of life, a "plug" can represent any number of things, from homework, to term papers, to final exams. Sometimes we become so caught up in our pursuits for success that our circuits (brain) overload. It is at this time, just before we suffer from a complete melt down, that we must unplug ourselves from the "real-world." We owe it to ourselves to take five, chill out, just relax.

Oakwood student activities are the breaks we need in our lives every now and then. Skating at the rink, attending poetry readings, basketball games, and revivals are just a few of the many events which students can take part in for their entertainment. Not only are individuals given the chance to finally let their hair down, but they are given opportunities to flourish in existing friendships, or plant seeds for new ones.

Students often think that student activities are the threads which bind us Oakwoodites together. Unity and appreciation for diversity are two key components which are stressed as the underlying backbone of this rich aspect of Oakwood's way of life.

Chillin'

Ministry

"Let your light so shine before all men. . . ." As the radiant sunshine beams down, Sam and Marlon lead the way as Oakwood light bearers go out into the community sharing the gospel of Jesus Christ with all whom they encounter.

(Left) "All eyes on me." An Oakwood student takes a minute to just "chill out." Though he probably doesn't mind being the center of attention in any normal circumstance, you can be assured that this is not one of those moments.

(Below) Friendships made at Oakwood are more than a mere earthly commodity. They endure through heartache and pain, during joy and celebration, through the life that is and the life that is to come.

Showin' Out

Marie, Quanny, Janae, and Chrissy are showin' out at the rink. Marie, you need to calm all that down, you know that's against OC policy.

Showin' Up

Ravida, Donna, Erica, and the rest of the girls take a break from their syncrized swimming practice and all surface to the top as they give brilliant smiles for the camera.

Showin' Down

Stephanie, David and Adrianne, show their stuff down on the floor board as they twist and contort their bodies in all sorts of awkward positions.

USM

c h a p e l

On Tuesday, September 19, 2000, the United Student Movement of Oakwood College put on its first chapel for the 2000/2001 school year. The theme was “Fifty Years of Movement.” With the USM celebrating its fiftieth year, This particular chapel was very special because it featured some past influential USM leaders, including Ms. Kesslyn Brade, Elder Aldwin Humphrey, Dr. Keith Burton, Ms. Minneola Dixon, and Dr. Susan Baker, who shed some light on how the USM operated back in the days when they attended Oakwood College.

(Above) "There's something different about those young people." Despite the fact of not knowing the cause, members of the community fell in step as children tagged behind the OC Students parading down the street.

Impact 2000: The Big Sabbath Outreach

"Let's see, which one should we go to? The nursing home, soup kitchen, hospital, or street ministries?" This was the question that buzzed around Blake Center as more than one hundred students gathered on the grass in front of Blake Center to get ready to do some outreach. At least four or five buses pulled into the parking lot to transport the ready, able and willing students to the different destinations.

Most students opted to go to the soup kitchen and the street ministries, but there were more than enough people to participate in each ministry.

God is with each student as he or she ministers to others. By God's grace more and more students will join in the work for the Lord. Amen.

"Big Sabbath Outreach is a great way to unite the Student Body in Christ through service."

--Lily Archer

"Big Sabbath Outreach gives us an opportunity to follow in the footsteps of Christ."

-- Leo Campbell

Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.

Matthew 28:19

"Big Sabbath Outreach is the chance for me to share a special moment with someone else and share a little love, a little joy, a little Jesus."

-- Marc Felton

"In the very foundation of the Christian church is the phrase 'Seeking the lost.' As a result the thrust of any body of believers has always been and will continue to be witnessing. The USM outreach activities carried out by the student body have been a direct execution of the emphasis given by Christ in Matthew 28:19-20. Only heaven will tell the impact on the souls that we'll reach."

Oakwood Hits the Lanes

Often times, life pushes you around, pins you up, and knocks you down. Sometimes the abuse is almost too much to bare. One cannot help but to want to fight back and even the score. That's why Oakwood students hit the lanes Saturday night where the more they knocked down the greater the praise. At the AMF Bowling alley, one's task is to totally obliterate the obstacale standing at the end of a long beaten path. Bowling balls whirled down the lanes sometimes being trailed by students still holding on. . .

(Below) Look boy...don't play with me! Nate is in some serious trouble with Shayla. Who is the girl in the middle laughing at?

(Right) Amanda and Keturah smile big for the camera, while the other two play it cool.

Making a Splash

Take a dip, a dive, or a swim; whatever it takes to cool out. Oakwoodites did just that by participating in various water games. The O.C. Natatorium served as the battlefield for many battle of the sexes games. Students also engaged in high diving. Some graced us with the elegance of their skills, while others simply graced us with another shower. And still there were those who graced us with their presence. They stood by the water's edge and gave encouragement to the battling sides, as well as sharing in the laughter of the moment when someone unfortunate soul took that big breaking plung.

The Cutting Edge

Students work hard all week to prove that they are a cut above the rest. But they also know how to show they are on that same cutting edge in the ice skating rink. One would be hard pressed to find an Oakwoodite who doesn't love to skate, whether it's on an ice or on a wooden floor.

Slipping, sliding, skating, and falling could all be found that Saturday night. The rink served as a showcase of talent. Many individuals attempted (in many cases) to show their skills, but instead of awing us, they left us with a sense of "ouch!" Despite the fact that it was a ice rink and not a dance floor, there was a lot of breaking going on (break dancing that is, get it?).

(Below) "Will you stop pulling me so fast? I'm going to fall!"

(Right) "I'm only cheesin' this hard because I have a camera in my face. The truth of the matter is that I just got broke and I'm in a lot of pain."

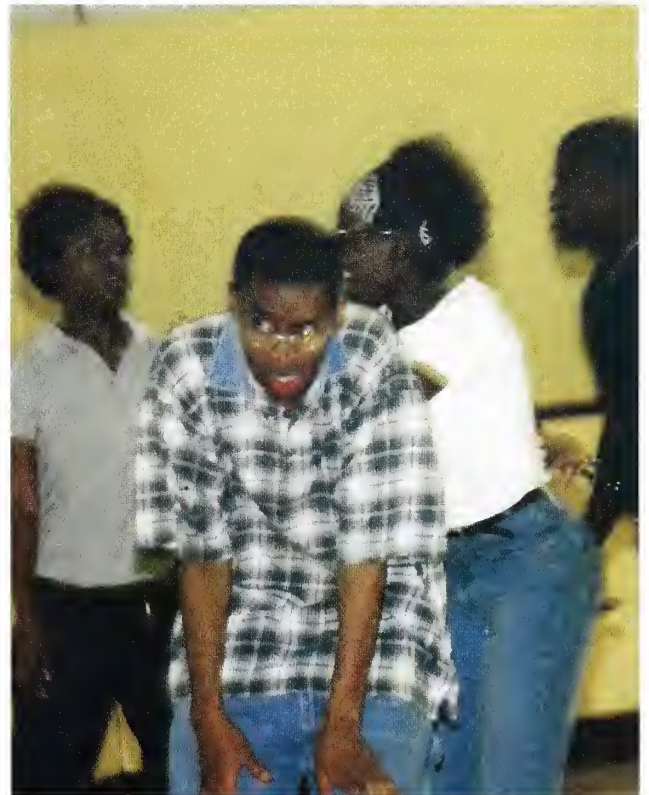

Roller Skating

Skating takes place three times a week--Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday nights. It is the time to cut loose, disconnect, and unplug from the everyday flow of studies. Students get on the floor and release all their tension and frustrations with school. Chris or Steve produce the phat tunes, while the regulars, Quanny, Brian and Chinwe get down.

(Below) Can someone, anyone, please explain to me what exactly is taking place here?

Oakwood College Senior Presentation

The Oakwood College Senior Presentation took place on January 17, 2001 at the Oakwood College Church. Anxious and excited seniors of the class of 2001 gathered together to celebrate. The final stretch of their tenure at Oakwood College is here! The guest speaker for this special occasion was Elder Lisa Smith-Reid, a powerful preacher from Allegheny West conference. The program also featured some words of encouragement by the president of Oakwood College, Dr. Delbert W. Baker, and a beautiful song, "I've Got A Home In Dat Rock" rendered by Lydia Husbands. Senior class vice president, Jarren Thurman, responded to the charge given to the class by Pastor Smith-Reid.

The Back to School Revival

“The Way of the Cross”

Shortly after the beginning of the fall semester for the 2000/2001 school year, the Oakwood College Church led the students of Oakwood College in a back-to-school revival. Sixty-one students were baptized. The Lord be praised!

DEEP Sabbath

On December 4, 2000, two busloads of students from Southern Adventist University came to Oakwood for Sabbath fellowship with the OC students. This event was better known as DEEP Sabbath. Sponsored by the OC USM, this was another effort (in addition to the regular DEEP) to unite the student bodies of Oakwood and Southern. Services were held in the Ashby Auditorium (the gymnasium). After disembarking from the bus, Southern students were welcomed with doughnuts and juice.

Sabbath School followed with a discussion of how to better race relations. The divine service was lead out by the students of Southern, complete with an inspiring sermon by Zaine Ye, Southern's student association religious vice president. After church was over, the students feasted on haystacks, and the afternoon wrapped up with a concert featuring students from Oakwood and Southern. It was indeed a blessed Sabbath.

BUSINESS AND TECHNOLOGY COMPLEX

On January 9, 2001, OC celebrated the ribbon cutting of its newest building: the Business and Technology Complex. Miss Oakwood 2001

"Radiating His Glory"

A rumble of excitement mingled through the audience as the tantalizing sounds of Caribbean music filtered through the room. As if out of nowhere, ten jubilant, energetic women emerged from beneath the stage into full view, colorfully arrayed in a vast assortment of island outfits. No, this wasn't Trinidad or Jamaica, but it was Huntsville, Alabama, and the event was the 10th Annual Miss Oakwood College Pageant. This year's theme was "Radiating His Glory," and throughout the evening, these women truly did "radiate" brilliantly as they graced the stage, providing model examples of the "Oakwood Woman." At the close of the evening, Shannone Holt and Alethea Goodridge were awarded the titles of 2nd and 1st runners-up (respectively), and Tyisha Cephas was crowned Miss Oakwood 2001. However, all of the contestants must be commended for their hard work and tremendous spirit, proving them all to be royalty.

Quantrilla Carter

Quantrilla Carter is a 20-year-old biology major whose goal as Ms. Oakwood is to work toward a change that reflects her belief that where there is no vision, the people perish.

Her vision is to see her fellow students on one accord, physically as well as spiritually. She wants them to do all they can to involve themselves with every aspect of their school. She believes that if they work together, there will be no river impassible, no door unable to be opened, and no mountain unable to be moved.

Caroline Douglas

Caroline Douglas is a 20-year-old junior who is an English major with a minor in political science. Her goal in life is to be an attorney who remains strong in her beliefs while being successful in her field. She lives within the beautiful boundaries of Southern California in the San Fernando Valley. Though she lives in the Golden State, she hails from Nairobi, Kenya, which is the acclaimed haven for wildlife tours. Her goal as Ms. Oakwood is to uplift her fellow Oakwood queens to realize that unlike society's idea that a woman is characterized by her looks, she is a hand-made creation crafted with the careful blend of wisdom, knowledge, and character.

Roma Habtemariam

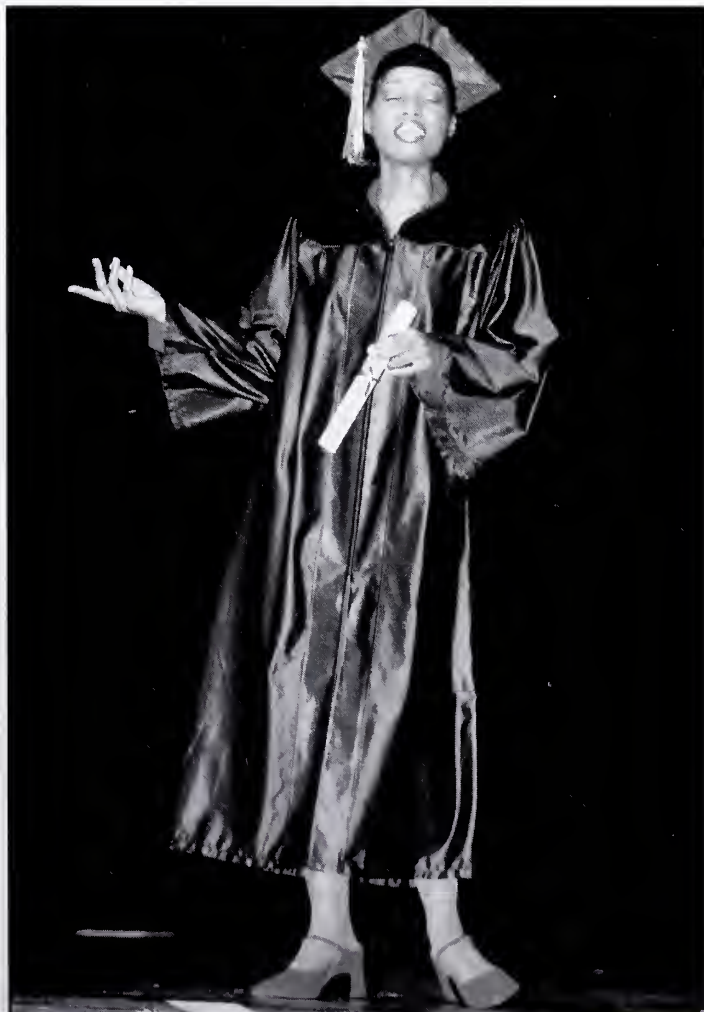

My name is Roma Habtemariam. I was born in Sudan, and currently reside in Columbus, Ohio. I am a 20-year-old junior with a major in elementary education. I aspire to volunteer and teach in my homeland, Eritrea, East Africa, for one year. My goal as Miss Oakwood is to represent the true Christian woman and serve the needs of my fellow student body.

Christina Jefferson

Originally from Monroe, Louisiana, Christina is a graduating senior majoring in business management, pursuing a career in human resource management. Her goal as Miss Oakwood is to help her fellow students to utilize their full potential in earthly service as they strive to achieve their heavenly goal.

Deondria Jeffries

Deondria Jeffries, originally from Texarkana, Texas, now resides in Atlanta, Georgia. She is a 20-year-old junior with a double major in vocal performance and pedagogy, theory and composition. Her goal as Miss Oakwood is to radiate God's glory by using her voice to spread the gospel of Jesus Christ to her fellow students and surrounding Oakwood community.

Natalie Louis

Natalie Louis is a French linguistics specialist who is a junior music vocal performance major. She is a most friendly individual who enjoys outreach in any setting. She has experienced the joys of foreign mission in Haiti with NAPS and continues to reach people at the point of their need on the home front. As Miss Oakwood, Natalie plans to deal with some of the most pressing issues facing college students today. She plans to be a positive role model for young black women who are striving to reach goals that most would say are impossible; for Natalie, it is possible to be black, intelligent, beautiful, and "ride the high places of the Earth in Jesus' name."

Syreeta Ali McTier

Syreeta Ali McTier is a 20-year-old elementary education major from Los Angeles, California. Her goal as Miss Oakwood is to set the standard of what a true Christian woman should be. She wants to be an example of a well-rounded woman academically, spiritually, and socially. Her mission is to uplift God while uplifting others on and beyond Oakwood's campus so that Oakwood College will be properly represented as a place of higher education in its quest for excellence and eternity.

Shannone Oneke' Holt

Shannone Oneke' Holt is a finance major at Oakwood College. A 21-year-old senior, her goal as Miss Oakwood will be to represent not only the students of Oakwood College, but also the college community as a whole. She is fully cognizant that during her tenure as ambassador, wherever the name Oakwood College goes, the far-reaching responsibility that she will have goes with it. She believes that, presently, there are four gulfs that tend to separate us: race, gender, generation, and denomination. Shannone feels that if selected Miss Oakwood, she will be uniquely positioned to help bridge these gulfs and bring cohesiveness to all the necessary entities of the college into one unified body for this new millennium.

2nd Runner Up

Alethea Goodridge

My name is Alethea Goodridge, and I am a 22-year-old student studying for a bachelor's degree in social work with a minor in music. I come from a very beautiful province in Canada called British Columbia. I have observed that children and youth are lacking for positive role models and motivators in their lives. Therefore, my goal as Miss Oakwood 2001 is to empower children and youth in the community to a higher excellence in education. I plan to implement this goal by developing extracurricular programs and activities into the education system of Huntsville, Alabama.

Tyisha Cephas

Miss Oakwood 2001

Tyisha Cephas is a 24-year-old junior biochemistry major from West Palm Beach, Florida. She aspires to be a humble servant to God, specifically in the field of cardiovascular surgery. As Miss Oakwood, she wishes to allow the Lord to use her to implement a program on self value that will teach young ladies how to appreciate, become, and perfect being the women that God would have them to be. For a blossomed woman is a blossomed rose.

An Interview with . . .

Tyisha Cephas, Miss Oakwood 2001

Why did you want to become Miss Oakwood?

I chose to run in the Miss Oakwood Pageant because I wanted to have an enjoyable experience. I saw the girls last year and saw the fun they had. I feel I have been given the gift of compassion. Entering the pageant would let me be an instrument for God-ministering to other girls by having a listening ear and being a role model.

What was your biggest fear during the pageant?

Falling, stage fright, or forgetting my lines.

What was the funniest thing that happened to you during the pageant.

The funniest thing that happened to me was when we were practicing the question segment. I was answering a question, and it was so tight in the beginning; then I just stopped, said thank you, and walked out. Everybody was mad and one of my fellow contestants threw a shoe at me. They were mad because we were told not to do that on stage.

Who were your biggest supporters?

Tracy Harris, Irene Tubbs (taught me how to sign), Ramona Biggs, Joycelyn Poole, Alana Ackerman (my offstage judges, critics, and motivators), Aukea Joseph, former queen (gave tips from last year's pageant), all the people in Florida, my church family, and my family.

Other than being crowned Miss Oakwood, what have you gained.

I've gained etiquette, confidence, and knowledge.

What you like to do during you tenure as Miss Oakwood?

First, I'd like to join the Pre-Alumni Club because I feel that any contestant running for Miss Oakwood needs to be a part of the club. Second, I will be running in the Miss National UNCF Pageant. I plan to help raise money for next year's pageant to make sure the run for Miss Oakwood next year is easier. I want to be a link for the students and their concerns. I want to contribute my skills in helping the Ladies First Society. I also plan on recruiting for Oakwood College and representing my school to my utmost ability.

Organizations Unplugged

"I plan on going into the medical profession, so I joined the science club to learn about opportunities in research and medicine. Plus, I needed that discount on the MCAT!"

-Kareema Dudley, Sophomore

Students come from all over the world to unite themselves in one accord by joining organizations that are best suited for their personalities and academic pursuits. Assembling themselves in a manner that requires teamwork is an important factor in really getting to know their true selves. To serve as a member of any organization it takes a cooperative, responsible, and dedicated person.

Throughout the years the organization section has consisted mainly of pictures of the various members of each organization. This year we have "unplugged" the well-known O.C. clubs or organizations by asking their presidents questions that would give insight about their clubs.

National Association for the Prevention of Starvation

The National Association for the Prevention of Starvation (NAPS) is a non-profit, volunteer relief organization founded in 1978 and registered in the state of Alabama. College students are NAPS' primary source of volunteers. Students are well represented on the NAPS board of directors. As a result, students play a significant role in the decision making process for the organization. NAPS volunteers are committed to serve others. A large percentage of NAPS volunteers complete their undergraduate study and advance to medical and graduate school. Many are now practicing as physicians, dentists, nurses, lawyers, and teachers while continuing to serve as NAPS volunteers. NAPS is anchored in the philosophy of education being central to the development of any community and the restoration of humanity. The organization's original focus was solely on agricultural development. However, in 1991, NAPS extended its vision to include the basic human needs of food, clothing, shelter, and education. In response to this new focus, NAPS has become involved in humanitarian efforts in the U.S. and foreign countries

NAPS has traveled all over the globe. Here, some members are helping build a school in Guyana.

WHY ARE YOU IN NAPS???

"NAPS provides ordinary people with the ability to witness, to increase in personal growth, inreach, as well as outreach and to spread the love of Jesus."

United Student Movement

2000-2001

The United Student Movement is the student government of Oakwood College. As stated in its constitution, the USM was established "in order to enhance our spiritual, academic, and social experience" at Oakwood College. Every student enrolled in Oakwood College is a member of the United Student Movement; hence, it is the largest student-run organization on campus.

The USM, through its offices, provides many services. These include, but are in no way limited to, social, academic, athletic, and religious activities. Some of the highlights of these activities include the spring banquet, college bowl competition, intramural competitions, and the student week of prayer. Additionally, the USM produces the official Oakwood College newspaper, the Spreading Oak, and the official Oakwood College yearbook, the Acorn.

The USM also serves as a liaison between the college administration and the student body. The officers are organized into two main groups: the executive officers and the Senate. The executive officers are elected at the end of the previous school year into the positions specified in the constitution. The Senate is elected at the beginning of each school year and consists of student representatives from each of the dormitories and the off-campus population.

There's the mental and the spiritual, but what about the physical aspects of education Oakwood College claims to cover? Well, welcome to the O.C world of sports. A place where you can get in shape, win a game, and sprain an ankle all in one shot! While jumping into the new century, not only are the men taking the sports realm by storm but so are also those forgotten treasures called "ladies" (who also have new uniforms, by the way)! The main highlight of the O.C. sports realm this year was...THE CROWD. Much appreciation and thanks goes to Coach John Damon for a job well done on the women's basketball ledge. Ten Thousand thank you's goes to Coach James Roddy for caring so much as to put in so much hard work. The new goals for the new centruy: soccer and volleyball teams and, of course...A BIGGER GYM!!!

LET'S HEAR IT FOR...

"The Ambassadors are here, ready to cheer. . . Hey, were are those girls going dressed in blue and gold?" It's the new Lady Ambassadors Cheerleading Squad, and they are not your typical small school cheer squad. These ladies have the beats to move your feet, the smiles to go the mile, and the shouts to let the crowd know what they are all about! This competition ended with 2:00 minutes left in the game due to circumstance

In an unforgettable weekend in October, the Oakwood College gymnasium was filled with shouts of, "Westside! Eastcoast! We Redda! Northside!" This rowdy extreme had to mean only one thing... the North, East, South and West Basketball Competition. Although the West did not do very well, it was well represented in the crowd where you saw several "W's" in the air. The North was quite silent although they did fairly well in the game. Well, what can be said about the Dirty South which was indeed well "Redda" as they rocked the house. Oh, and who can forget the East who was truly "holding it down" as they ran across the court with painted faces carrying a New York Yankee flag. Clearly, these two nights of competition were all about the crowd and who represented the best. The crowd was so "crumped" in trying to represent that I don't think they even realized that the final game never ended.

On October 29, 2000, the gym was filled with determined ballers out to prove a point at the battle of the classes basketball game. There was trash talking, foul calling, and class representing all across the gym. Although all classes put in a great effort, the juniors UNPLUGGED the fire and went home with the victory proving that the mighty class of 2002 can even put it down in 2000-2001 (sorry seniors, better luck next time!)

Sports closing. . .

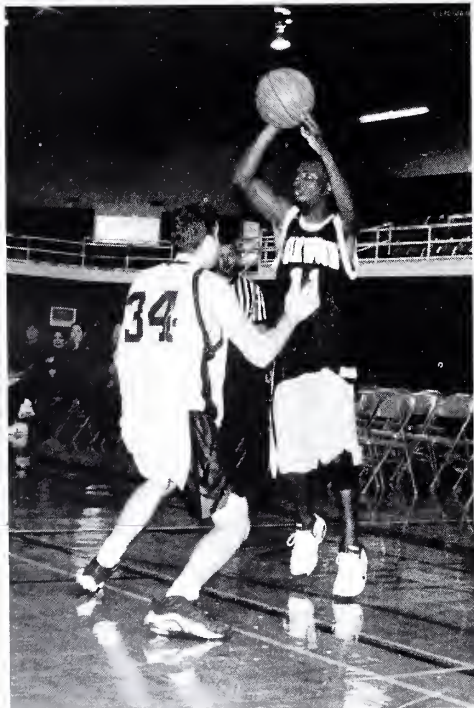

Hey, these games must be something. The administration is here!

Look in the sky! It's a bird; it's a plane. . .hey, I was just kidding!

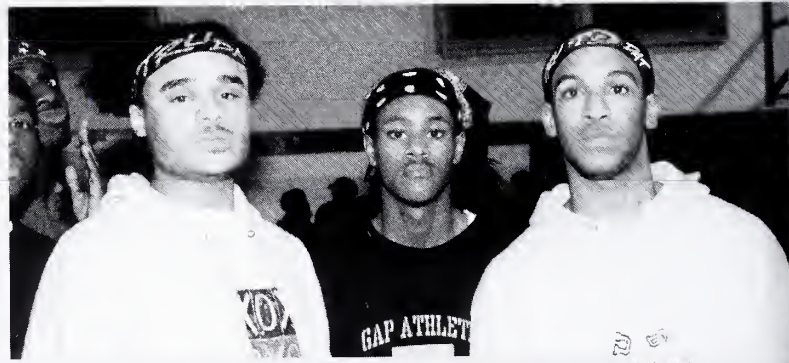

Two hard workers on the court, doing their thang.

The Roddy Girls! Katie, Jamie, and Carrie.

Watch out ladies! Here comes the freshmen! WOW!

It has been said, that which doesn't kill us only serves to make us stronger. If that be the case, seeing I'm still alive, my strength must have increased ten-fold this semester. When I took on this position, I realized that it would be a whole new kind of experience, but nothing ever prepared me for the character building session that it would be. And though we have had our bad times (as I'm writing this, someone is trying to fix our main computer, which went bust yesterday, and we're still trying to locate our "missing" camera), God has been with us every step of the way and has seen us through (and I'm sure that will go for the computer and camera mishaps as well). In addition, the know-how and knowledge that I have gained in doing this will last me a lifetime.

As with any great effort, no one person can take the glory of doing it all, so there are a few people whom I'd like to thank for their contributions. First off, Ms. Hyman, thank you for your endless support and for always trying to remind me I wasn't in this thing by myself. Ms. Allen, thanks for your help and listening ear. For my staff, thank you all for all your effort and work. Couldn't have done it without 'ya. My section editors, Diana, Nicole, Alva, John-Michael, Triciana, Candace, and Penny, you all are so on-point! David and Michelle, thank's for your precise spot-checking abilities. All the section assistants and photographers, your help was a significant contribution, and Shantil, thanks for going up and beyond the call of duty. For all of my friends, especially Princess Di, Natie, Neecy, Tam, and Zo, I appreciate the supportive shoulders and your tolerance for allowing me to collapse on your dorm room floors and pour out all my woes and tribulations. To my roommate (of three years!) Tabitha, thanks for your encouragement and for understanding why my half of the room looked the way it did so many times during the semester. To my parents and sister, thanks for your generous financial assistance because I did not have the extra time to be gainfully employed (tried it, had to quit). Thanks to Jason Thomas, who gave up five (plus) hours out of his Sunday (and study time) to try to fix our ailing computer and for hooking it up to "life-support" and resuing alot of our info. Also thanks to Enoch from the computer center who at the time I'm writing this is trying to fix our ailing computer. Tosin, thanks for hooking up the zip drive. Mr. Cleveland, thank you for all the multiple proof spot-checking that you did. Because of you, our publication is so much more error-free. For all those who stopped to give a kind word when it looked like I was loosing my sanity, I appreciate it. To any other person whom I could have possibly forgotten, thank you, thank you, and once again, thank you.

What you have before you is the fruit of our efforts - Acorn 2001, "Unplugged." I hope you enjoy. For me, seeing the finish product outweighs all the struggles. God bless you all, and, please, do remember to stop and take some time to "Unplug!"

With Sincerity,

Tiffany Sidra Taylor

Unplug

i am your life.
i'm like a television that's constantly on.
all i do everyday all day is take the orders of whomever is sitting on the couch and holding the remote.
i constantly show what i am told,
reflect what i am instructed.
my volume is automated,
my programming is predetermined,
my existence is uncomfortable, forced.
occasionally my ability to receive signals becomes flawed and someone has to adjust my antenna in order for me to clear the static and regain my focus.
my day does not end
my cycle is unbroken
i sleep sometimes, but never for long.
i do sleep, but i do not relax, i do not rest.
i sleep as part of a daily routine,
just the next thing on my schedule.
i shut down in mere anticipation of the next command that i am to receive.
i get commercial breaks two times a year,
but even then i miss my opportunity to chill.
i am a television and the only way that i can relax is if i were to unplug. . .
hey. . .there's an idea. . .
i think i'll
unplug. . .

-dizzy (aka Paul Nixon)

Take the time to unplug.

We are Very Proud of You.

We have watched you grow to be a young man. As you embark upon a new phase, we pray and trust that the Lord will continue to be with you. You have come a long way.

We are proud of your faith, and trust, and your commitment. The Lord has a plan for each of us and he also has one for you.

We love you.

Congratulations!

Congratulations Karen!

Dearest Karen,

Your smiles and enthusiasm warm our hearts like sunshine. Congratulations!! You've earned your success and we are very proud of you. Continue to walk close to your Best Friend, Jesus.

Love,

Mom, Woolton, Jullian, Gemar, Andre, Jeremy

To Shavon Denard:

You don't know how much it means to us to see how you have faced so many obstacles and with God's help still succeeded.

You have the ability to go anywhere that your imagination can take you. We are proud of the young lady that you have become. We know that God will be there with you wherever you go.

From, Mom, Dad and Brothers

We love you forever

To our Sherine

Over the years we watched and prayed as you grew into a God fearing young woman. We watched and prayed as you pursued your educational goals. Today you have achieved those goals and we are very proud of you. As you embark on a new chapter in your life, remember to "Commit to the Lord whatever you do and your plans will succeed" (Proverbs 16:17).

Love Mom, Dad, Keisha, Barbara, Aunt Theresa and the Campbells- Shaniqua, Andrea

Dearest Kris,

We are so proud of you and your achievements. We love you and encourage you to keep striving for the ultimate- education-ally, socially, mentally, and most of all spiritually.

All our love,
Dad, Mom & Shanna

God made you unfold, fresh as a rose, with early morning dew, glistening in the sunlight.

Khandie Youlande Waugh (21 years old) is a Pre-med honor student who plans to enter medical in the fall of 2001.

Khandie, who was born in Jamaica, attended Carbondale Community High School in Illinois for her freshman and sophomore years in 1993-1995. Here she trained for cross country running, successfully ran 1 mile and 2 mile events and has a few trophies and letters to show for them. In 1995 she transferred to Lodi Academy, in Lodi, Ca, where she graduated with honors and started Oakwood College in August 1997. She has received Academic scholarships while at Oakwood College.

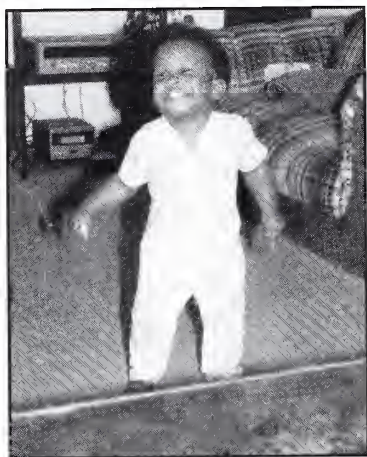

To Anita Rochuane Dupree:

It's great to see how you have grown up to be the fine young lady you are today.
We're so glad to see you accomplish another goal in life. May God continue to bless you as you continue on to pursue that law degree you desire. Also best wishes to you and Ivan as you are united together in marriage.

We love you,

Wallace.

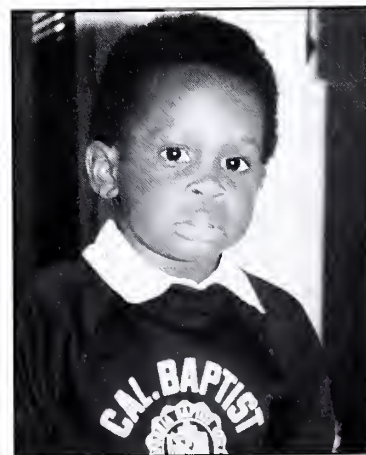

Congratulations Tosin!!!

God has truly blessed you through your collegiate years. You are truly an assest in His eyes and may He continue to bless you throughout your lifetime.

May He bless you through your future educational pursuits.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Toyosi, Siju, Teju, Tomi, and the entire Atolagbe Family

Michelle, as you can see consistency does pay off.
Continue to press towards the mark of reaching your heavenly goals as well as your earthly goals.

Love,
Daddy & Mommy

We're proud of you!

Congratulations, Crystal Boney

We are so happy that God has brought you to this wonderful milestone in your life. Continue to make Him first.

We love you!

Shane Kirk (Mooch) Simmons

Hi Shane,

Congratulations! You've made it. We were rooting for you all along. Now we're glad it's over. We're proud of your accomplishments. May the Lord continue to bless you as you reach for the 'gold'.
 Love Mom & Dad

Hi Mooch,
 I'm glad it's over too. Leave the jeep for me I'll be down in August.
 I'm following you so watch where you walk.

Congratulations
 Jared

Hi Shane,

I'm glad your're finished. Hurry home so you can take me out in the boat fishing. I love you.

CONGRATULATIONS LARISSA!

To our beloved daughter, Larissa.

Congratulations to you, as you continue to reach your goals. May you always trust and depend on the Lord.

We love you, but God loves you best.

Love Mom & Dad

Congratulations Jacques!

By God's grace you made your goal.
We pray that it doesn't end there. We love you and we are proud of you.
May God continue to bless you.

Love Always Your,
Mommie, Tasha, & Grandma

CONGRATULATIONS ZOE CHECKLEY!

Zoe, you have come a long way. We are very proud of you.

Congratulations!

From Mommy and Aunts

Sharon Congratulations!

You have reached that gold. Psalm 40 says, "I waited patiently for the Lord and He inclined to me and heard my cry." You made your family very proud of you especially mom, dad, and brother (Euclid). Continue to walk in good faith and God will always direct your path. Keep smiling we love you.

Sharon is an example of what is possible for anyone, who's great ambition is applied to natural ability.

Congratulations Tesa Nurse!

My darling Tesa you are at the end of your four years of hard work. Stressfull days, sleepless nights and God has brought you through successfully. It is with great pride and admiration that your Dad, Omar, and I send these warmest congratulaions.

As you go through life I hope you continue to approach any obstacle in your way with the same determination and zest that was displayed in the last four years. May God richly bless you and guide you in the paths that lies ahead.

Love,
Dad, Omar, & Mum
